BOOKS

Echo Books has assisted over 100 authors in navigating publishing. We understand that, like every author, every manuscript is unique, and that each book deserves a tailored design.

We guide you with personalised service and take pride in seeing our author's work on shelves for the world to enjoy.

Echo Books champions print-on-demand technology to avoid expensive and environmentally costly print runs. Unlike traditional publishing, our books never go out of print.

We work closely with you to design and publish high-quality print-on-demand paperback and hardcover books, as well as ePublications.

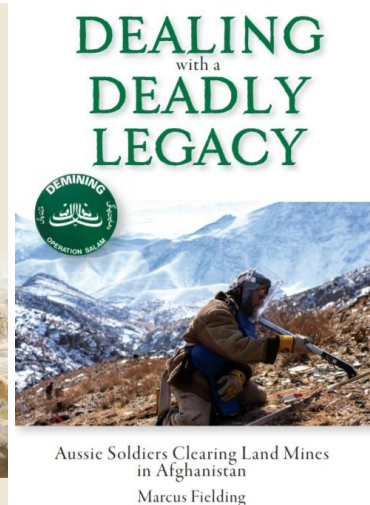

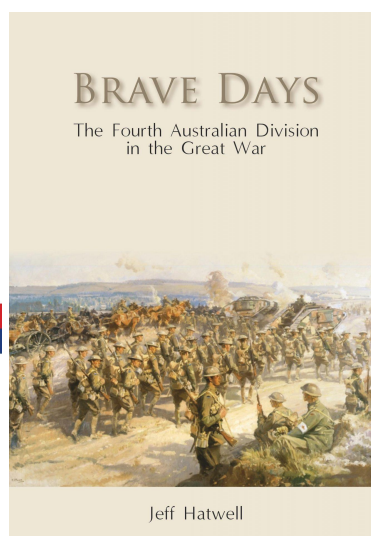

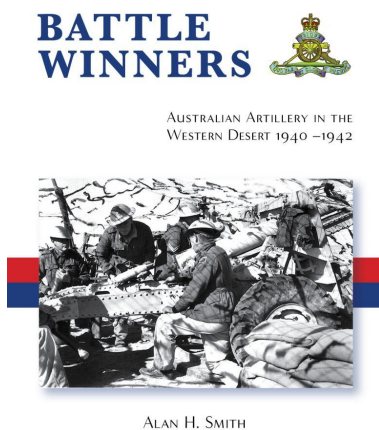

Our titles are sold through six of the largest resellers - Amazon, Barnes and Noble, Angus and Robertson, Booktopia and Fishpond.

The author pays our design and publishing costs; royalties from sales are fully passed back to the author.

Our design and publishing service as well as the process we follow are described on our website.
